

I support media diversity

I think it is downright wrong for a single company to monopolize what I see and hear. If we allow such a thing to happen, we would be no better than communist China in terms of free speech and censorship everywhere we turn. We most definitely need more diversity in media, nothing original has come out lately, and the same old crap stagnates, making everything on television mediocre at best.

Sincerely, Kevin Lee Lawson